

2017 MEMBERSHIP RECOGNITION AWARDS

Each year during Institute NADOA recognizes a few outstanding members for their contributions to the Association throughout the year. This year NADOA had five very deserving recipients.

Interaction Award

Vicki Danielson

The Interaction award belongs to a member who has demonstrated leadership in the promotion of the profession to the industry and the community. Vicki Danielson is so deserving of this award. She is continually on the forefront of organizing an event to coincide with educational opportunities. She is a leader among leaders. With a smile on her face she encourages those around her to do more and be part of more. She has been part of the Institute committee for many years. Every year she brings new and fresh ideas. She represents NADOA with professionalism and enthusiasm. Vicki, we thank you for your hard work this year for NADOA.

Education Award

Luanne Johnson

The Education award is presented to the NADOA member who has achieved a high level of distinction in NADOA's education activities as demonstrated by their contributions of time and service to the betterment of Division Order professionals. Luanne Johnson has contributed countless hours over many years devoting herself to teaching NADOA's members, organizing education opportunities such as webinars and overseeing the CDOA committee. NADOA exists to educate its members and Luanne exemplifies a member who cares very deeply about making sure that happens. Thank you, Luanne.

Corporate Award

Steve Smith and Legacy Royalties

The Corporate award is presented to the group or company that has contributed the most to NADOA's growth and development, the Division Order profession and or the industry during the past year. Steve Smith and Legacy Royalties generously support NADOA's membership through education opportunities, event sponsorship and active participation in NADOA. Legacy Royalties exemplifies outstanding service to NADOA members and royalty owners across the nation. Steve Smith is a familiar face to many of us. In addition, he welcomes NADOA members to Legacy's pasture party. Thank you so much for sponsoring this year's Thursday Night event at Institute and for bringing in Uptown Drive for a fun and memorable evening.

Russell Schetroma Memorial Speaker's Award

Kacie Bevers

The Russell Schetroma Memorial Speaker's award is given to an individual who has contributed to NADOA's growth and development by speaking, educating and sharing knowledge on numerous occasions to the NADOA membership, the Division Order profession and the industry during the past year. Kacie is a talented individual from whom our members have had the privilege of learning through the local associations as well as during this year's Institute. She is a member of HADOA and devotes her time and energy to the success of that organization as well. Thank you, Kacie, for sharing your expertise with the members of NADOA

Lifetime Achievement Award

Sandi Rupprecht

Sandi Rupprecht began in the oil and gas industry in 1982 as a Revenue Accountant who transitioned to Division Orders eight years later and immediately became involved in her local association. Her accounting background served the local association well because she focused on ensuring the association remained financially sound. She is a talented fundraiser who works hard to preserve the funds she raises. Sandi became a member of NADOA in 1994 and sat on the National Board. Since that time she has served on the Institute committee as Education chair several times, Transportation committee and as co-chair of the Institute. She has worked tirelessly to help NADOA run regional seminars, netting over $10,000 in income at each seminar. Through her creative problem solving she helps keep NADOA solvent. Outside of NADOA, Sandi has spoken at NARO Colorado and for the Colorado Petroleum Accounting Society. Sandi encourages younger members to participate and grow in leadership. Sandi is an outstanding analyst, extraordinary mentor and exceptional advocate of NADOA and our industry. She has been the Land Administrator supervisor at Enerplus for over six years. She has served NADOA as Treasurer, Second Vice President, First Vice President and is the 2017 NADOA President. Sandi, thank you for your years of service to NADOA and this industry.
